Election Requirement

I. The examiner again requests a single disclosed species for the instant method claims.

Pages 16-18 of the instant specification list a number of species. The examiner suggests that the applicant chooses a single compound from the list.

In paper no. 8 applicant, elects X as a 19 C atom chain with 4 nonconjugated double bonds, Y as an amide radical, and Z as a hydroxy aryl. This election is not considered a single disclosed species but rather encompasses hundreds of compounds. Therefore, the examiner suggests that applicant chooses a single disclosed species (e.g. see pages 16-18 of specification). Applicant states that examination of the instant species is not a burden. However, examiner never said that the examination of instant species was a burden. Examiner, merely requests an election of a single disclosed species to begin the examination process. Applicant should keep in mind that this is NOT a restriction requirement.
